

When Jumper wires are used to combine microfard values, which terminal value do you use to connect?

It does not matter, it will operate from either of the combined terminal values.